MATTER WHAT COLOR.—Journal, of 1944.

We have ever looked forward to the day when Kentucky should contain sithin her bounds no bondmen, and we hope to live to see the light of such a day.

Journal, Aug. 24, 1845.

Many of the best minds of the Estate are engaged with the subject of emancipation, and they will express freely the ropinions and act treely upon them.

We must make up our minds to meet that question, for no human power can stop it.

Journal, Aug. 21, 1845.

We believe there is a settled conviction in the minds of large m jority of the people of Kentucky that their interests—soc. al, moral, and financisi—would be promotted by disposing o. the slaves, and we believe that one day they will themselves begin to move in the matter. We awai: the movement, and shall stand ready to second it whenever our aid can be of any avail.

The bill to restrain the banks in their ope rations has failed, and it is well it has. We have had a prodigious fuss kicked up about banks lately, and it is true that the profits on their business have been extravagant; but that didn't ereate the furor. The truth is, some new bankwanted charters. They employed the editor of the Journal to engineer them through. He knew the old banks would oppose these new ones, and probably defeat them. Now how was that to be prevented? The course was plain. Just assail the banks on the bill business; that is their weak point at present. Keep them busy defending them selves, create a prejudice, and thereby destroy their influence. It was well managed-a savage at-1 ick was made on the banks: the blows were followed up; and the defence was rather difficult. They ought to have gone to the editor of the Journal and given him a bigger fee on the other side; but they don't seem to have taken the hint in time It was, moreover, natural to encourage competition in money lending; that is the natural remedy for the high price of money. A new bank or two got through, which will only do as other institutions of the sort-attend to their own interests; and in doing that, give us a little more capital, and make money a little cheaper to some people. The whole system is wrong in our judgment, but it is idle to fight it, for the present legislators must do as they can in regulating it. But would any restrictions except what the charters of the banks and the financial condition of the country imposes, do any good? It is true, the banks have done a very large bill business this year, and thereby made large profits; and what enabled them to do so? We conclude it was the scarcity of capital When solvent men, whose credit will command money at what it is worth, deal regularly with banks at such rates, it proves that money is worth as much. When there is more capital to lend; when the money market is easier, these large profits can't be made. Last year is no criterion. Let us see what this year will do, when we hope to witness no financial pressure; when times are

It is not worth while for the Legislature to be are generally able to protect themselves. They will not long pay more than money is worth; the banks will be compelled to come down to the genprice of capital. The evil will regulate itsel or rather, the condition of finances in the country will regulate it, and nothing else will, without at he same time restricting loans and embarrassing the usual course of business already established. We have no faith in any legislative action on the I'll publish all your lies on the editor of the Demsubject, and we think the folks at Frankfort have ocrat. Coax'em along, good friend Gregg." shown their wisdom by rejecting the whole business. In fact, had it not been for the zeal in certain quarters, which led to the savage attacks upon the banks, we should not have heard of this bill. The old banks had been guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors, and something must be done; when lose, when he is fully aware that falsehood is exin fact, they had done just what banks always do -made as much money as they could for the stockholders; that is the business of the Directors, known. He left a town in Connecticut in sight of the best of the late publications, and every one who otherwise they are not fit for their places. The stockholders have invested their money, and ex- Kentucky and spent his life a common bloat and cure a copy. It is sufficient to say, that it is from pect as much profit as possible legally; and they have a right to calculate on the same sort of business that was done when they made the investment, or at any rate, the same opportunities of business. Certainly banks might have been content with less profits; so might other people; but for truth, because it is issued here. men generally make use of a harvest when it comes in the way, knowing that there may be a famine in time, and if they have not some surplus they will break. No man is willing to give up profits when he can get them.

Take the average that banks make in any ter years, and some correct judgment may be formed of what regulations are needed. Lately banks have made large profits and felt very saucy-csn bear scolding and kicking a little; but such golden opportunities may not occur again in many years. The high rates of money will attract more capital to the State and bring down the price, if the current is left to flow on without tinkering with it. But if not, and the use of capital still commands such high rates, why then let wiser heads look round for a remedy; and we are sure it will not be found in legislation. No legislation can fix the price of money any more than it can fix the price of horses and cattle.

The late correspondence between our Gov. ernment and that of Great Britain places the lat ter in no enviable light. The positive statements made in Parliament, both on the enlistment and Central American questions, are false, as the public documents fully prove. About the enlistment question, Lord Clarendon is guilty of equivocation and duplicity. He never even acknowledged the offence fully proved, and of course never made an apology for it. The statement that he had offered arbitrate the subject of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is not true, as the correspondence we published yesterday will show. The most singular development of the whole affair is, the hasty transmission to Mr. Marcy, by Crampton, British Minister at Washington, of a dispatch sent him by Clarendon four months ago, relating to this very subject of arbitration. Why did not Clarendon make the formal application to Buchanan? Why did he send it to Crampton? Why did Crampton keep it four months in his pocket? DREADFUL DEATH.—During Tuesday night a poor drunken vagabond, whose name is unknown, took refuge under one of the furnaces of the rolling mill at Covington, and slept until morning, at which time one of the hands, without observing him, made up the fire and raked out the ashes, when he was startled by the groams of the wretched man, and drawing him forth, he immediately hastened for medical assistance, but after lingering until yesterday afternoon in dreadful agony, the unfortunate man breathed his last, unknown, without one pitying friend to shed a toar over his charred remains.—Gracianati Enquirer.

We learn that on Saturday night a stranger by the name of Francis Browning died at Little's Hotel, in this city, after a very short illness. From papers about his person it was ascertained that he had lately traveled in Illinois, thence to Missouri, and thence to Kansas. A fellow traveler learned from him that he had a wife and family in Leavenworth county, or near Leavenworth city, Kansas. He was on his road to Louisville at the time of his death.

STAMPS CUT FROM LETTER ENVELOPES ARE STAMPS CUT FROM LETTER ENVELOPES ARE VALUELESS.—We understand inquiries continue to be made at the Department why stamps cut from stamped envelopes cannot be used in prepayment of letters in the same manner as ordinary postage stamps. Persons, in addressing their letters, sometimes, through carelessness or mistake, destroy the envelope, and, without stopping to redect, many think it a hardship that, having paid the government both for the stamp and envelope, they cannot be allowed to cut out and use the stamp on a blain envelope. The principal research mp on a plain envelope. The principal reasons by this cannot be permitted are: first, the liw Board of Internal Improvement; passed--yeas 27, gives no value to such stamps, and makes no pro-vision for their use, except when connected with, and forming a part of, the envelopes as prepared under the law, with suitable water marks, &c., to prevent fraud; second, letters in stamped envelopes may be lawfully carried outside of the mail, and when so carried it is believed that the stamps are reasons, and will at once commend themselves every person of reflection.— Wash. Union. MURDER. We learn from a letter in the Canton

Citizen, that C. S. Lounsbury, Esq., the editor of the Chronicle, the American paper at Kosciusko. was murdered on Tuesday evening last, by Richard W. Payne. Lounsbury was going from his office to the hotel where he boarded, and as he approach-ed the steps of the hotel, Payne discharged a double-barreled shot gun, heavily loaded, lodging the contents of both barrels in Mr. Lounbury's right side. The unfortunate man died in less than an hour, being fully conscious of his situation. Vicksburg Sentinel, 28th ult.

Pittsburgh Dispatch of Wednesday says:

Fifteen hundred or two thousand people were collected on the Monongahela wharf on Tuesday morning by the ringing of steamboat belis, and a moving report that the ice was moving. The excitement was caused by the breaking away of a small field of ice from the south shore, above the bridge.

Another "fizzle" occurred about 2 P. M., which congregated several thousand people on the wharf to see—soung. The general bell-ringing which caused this analysance was very useless folly. It was no juke to paddle through the slush twice in one day.

Some of our shippers are suffering no little inconvenience from the large accumulations of freignt. The Marine Association were consulted you grady as to the propriety of shipping on the steamers at the landing they decided that it would be inexpedient to do so at present.

The river here remained nearly at a stand yesterday, ith a little less than thirteen feet in the channel. The Oliver did not know any Missourians who voted in Kansas. He had witnessed hundreds of eastern men returning from the Territory who said they had seen the "Elephant," filled their contract to vote, and were going home to authorize the Com mittee to send for persons and papers who would give countenance to revolution and bid defiance to to law. He trusted the House would refuse the request made at the instance of the man Reeder, no has smeared his hands with the blood of his fellow-citizens, and is the foundation of treason, which only needs the overt act to justify his being hung high as Haman. Cumback, of Ind., admitted, as charged by Oliver, the design of the Emigration Aid Societies was to make Kansas a free State. The doctrine pronounced by northern State. The doctrine pronounced by northern Democrats was, that the object of the Kansas-Ne braska act was not only to make those territories free, but to establish a cordon of free States to the Pacific. He never had any desire or intention to go to Kansas until he saw efforts made to force slavery there. He submitted to Oliver and Phelps who had addressed the House on this subject. has it come to this that we must ask them how many men shall go, and when they shall go to Kansas, in order to become citizens? It were a work of supererogation to praise a book of Mons. Lacour's writing. The volume before us is remarkable for its completeness and the exact practical irrections which it gives. Uld manufacturers will final if of the old modes entirely superseded. The use of he old formulas would appear as the "foam of folly' in he presence of the new ones suggested in this work one of the principal oujects appears to be to avoid, as ar as possible, the use of appearatus or expensive (a he operator) appliances of any kind in the manufacture of inquors, &c.—New York Times.

This volume contains the art of preparing and put ing up the whole list of drinkables, from a choice pipe if Okard Dupuy, of the vintage of 1795, to a simple and conomical manner of making cider without apples, by fermentarion. A friend has applien the recipe tor converting 23 gallons of whisky into 40 gallons with the most satisfactory results. The latter quality does no lossess an equal amount of intoxicating properties to the former, though the 40 gallons was of a much finer olor, taste, and dor—New York Mechanic
